

Top Ten Reasons

It's Great to Work at McDonald's

10 Our training is top notch.

McDonald's is the only restaurant organization to be awarded college credit recommendations for its corporate and restaurant training curriculum. What other company can boast its own university?

9 You find out real quick the color of money is a rockin' shade of gold and red.

McDonald's is the world's leading food service retailer, with 30,000 restaurants serving more than 50 million customers every day. We must be doing something right!

8 You could become famous working here.

Hundreds of pro athletes, political wonks and celebs got their start at McDonald's. Who knows what future stars are serving up fries today?

7 We care about communities where the Golden Arches stand.

It's not just about selling hamburgers. It's about giving back to the community — big time. Ronald McDonald House Charities donates millions of dollars to assist families and children worldwide. We're also involved in numerous charitable groups right here at home.

6 Billions served — in front of and behind the counters.

McDonald's has trained one out of every 12 working Americans and hires and trains more than 2,000 people in this country every day.

5 There's always room at the top.

McDonald's means opportunity. Many of our crewmembers move on to become managers, owners, regional staff and corporate employees. We encourage it and help make it happen.

4 Who's your momma?

Chances are good, if she worked at McDonald's, she's happy! Working Mother magazine has named the company one of the "100 Best" for working mothers. It's all about flexibility.

3 Diversity matters — and we know it.

Fortune named McDonald's as "Best Place to Work for Minorities." Latina Style magazine honored us for the opportunities we provide Hispanic women.

2 We love our employees and we show it.

Each year, McDonald's honors its top managers and crew through a number of different rewards and recognition programs. We also share the love through above-average compensation and benefits.

1 And the Number One reason it's great to work at McDonald's...

The Golden Arches are a great place to Put Your Best Foot Forward.

When you work at McDonald's, you'll be encouraged to grow, learn and develop the skills you'll use to move up fast — within the McDonald's corporation, with an independent McDonald's franchisee or at almost any company in the world.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITIES

Putting your best foot forward